REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON LOCAL GOVERNMENT
DISCLOSURE OF PROFFERED CASH PAYMENTS AND EXPENDITURES
2001 - 2002

INTRODUCTION

The 2001 General Assembly enacted Section 15.2-2303.2 of the Code of Virginia which directs the Commission on Local Government to annually collect data concerning local government revenues and expenditures resulting from the acceptance of cash payments voluntarily proffered.¹ Cash payments voluntarily proffered, also referred to as cash proffers, are (i) any money voluntarily proffered in writing, signed by the owner of property subject to rezoning, and accepted by a locality pursuant to the authority granted by Section 15.2-2303 or Section 15.2-2298 of the Code of Virginia, or (ii) any payment of money made pursuant to a development agreement entered into under the authority granted by Section 15.2-2303.1 of the Code of Virginia.

Cash proffers are a form of conditional zoning in the Commonwealth. Conditional zoning involves "proffered" conditions voluntarily offered by a developer or property owner that limits or qualifies how the property in question will be used or developed. Such proffered conditions are in addition to the general, uniform regulations otherwise applicable to land within the same zoning district, and are made to lessen the possible negative effects of an unrestricted rezoning. Upon approval by the local governing body, the conditions (i.e., proffers) become part of the rezoning and remain in effect even if the property is sold.² In some instances, the conditions proffered by the developer or property owner may include ¹See Appendix A for the text of Section 15.2-2303.2, Code of Virginia. The Commission is directed to collect and report by November 30 to the Chairmen of the Senate Committee on Local Government and the House Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns data on local government proffered cash payments and expenditures during the preceding fiscal year.

cash contributions to the locality. Generally, cash proffers are used to offset the impacts of a particular development by providing a funding source for new roads, schools, or other public facilities and services. Depending on the statutory authority under which the locality is eligible to accept the cash proffer, however, the impacts to be mitigated may or may not be directly related to the development at issue.³

While every Virginia jurisdiction has been authorized to employ some form of conditional zoning as part of its land use regulations since 1987, not all local governments may accept cash proffers. The localities that are eligible to accept cash proffers fall into one or more of the following categories:

- I. Pursuant to Section 15.2-2298, Code of Virginia:
 - A. Any locality which had a decennial Census growth rate of 10% or more;
 - B. Any city adjoining another city or county which had a decennial growth rate of 10% or more;
 - C. Any towns located within a county which had a decennial growth rate of 10% or more; and
 - D. Any county contiguous with at least three counties which had a decennial growth rate of 10% or more, and any towns located within that county.
- II. Pursuant to Section 15.2-2303, Code of Virginia:
 - A. Any county with an urban county executive form of government (i.e., Fairfax County);
 - B. Any city adjacent to or completely surrounded by a county with an urban county executive form of government;

³John H. Foote, "Planning and Zoning," Handbook of Virginia Local Government Law, Edited by Susan Warriner Custer, 2001 Edition, pp. 1-11 – 1-14.

- C. Any county contiguous to a county with an urban county executive form of government;
- D. Any city adjacent to or completely surrounded by a county contiguous to a county with an urban county executive form of government;
- E. Any town within a county contiguous to a county with an urban county executive form of government; and
- F. Any county east of the Chesapeake Bay.

III. Pursuant to Section 15.2-2303.1, Code of Virginia:

- A. Any county with a 1990 Census population between 10,300 and 11,000 persons through which an interstate highway passes (i.e., New Kent County).⁴

Based upon the statutory criteria cited above and data from the 2000 Census of Population, 254 Virginia localities (81 counties, 34 cities, and 139 towns) were eligible to accept cash proffers during FY2001-02.⁵

SURVEY ON THE USE OF PROFFERED CASH PAYMENTS

In conducting the current survey on the acceptance of cash proffers by localities, the Commission used the same instrument that had been distributed in the prior fiscal year with some slight modifications.⁶ On July 2, 2002, the revised survey instrument was mailed to the chief administrative officers of the 254 counties, cities, and towns which had the statutory authority to accept cash proffers during the 2002 Fiscal Year, and each locality was requested to return the completed survey by September 30, 2002. In an effort to obtain a maximum response, in early October a follow-up letter was sent to officials in those jurisdictions which had not responded to the initial request, and, subsequently, a series of personal contacts was made to obtain completion of the survey. As a result of those efforts, the final combined jurisdictional response rate to the survey was 100%, with all of the eligible counties, cities, and towns returning completed instruments to the Commission.

The results of the statewide survey of the acceptance of cash proffers reveal that only 29 out of the 254 eligible localities (19 counties, 6 cities, and 4 towns) reported cash proffer activity for the 2002 Fiscal Year. During that period, the aggregate amount of cash proffers collected and expended by those jurisdictions was $30,171,650 and $18,611,790, respectively.⁷ The survey results for individual local governments are reported in Appendix E.

⁶See Appendix D for a copy of the survey instrument. In 2001 the Commission developed a survey instrument to collect data concerning local government revenues and expenditures derived from cash proffers. General announcements of the survey, as well as the availability of the proposed survey instrument, were made by the Virginia Association of Counties and the Virginia Municipal League to their memberships. Further, the Commission solicited comments on the draft instrument directly from affected jurisdictions. Moreover, the Commission also conducted a public hearing for the purpose of receiving additional public comment with respect to the proposed survey. Following the close of the comment period, the Commission formally approved the survey instrument. That instrument, with minor revisions, was used to collect data concerning cash proffer activity during FY2001-02.

⁷Depending on the total cost of the public facility or service to be supported by proffered cash payments, revenue from such proffers may not be expended during the fiscal year in which it was collected. Also, fiscal data reported by localities for the 2002 Fiscal Year is likely to be unofficial since local government audits are not published until the December following the end of the fiscal year.

Virginia Statutes Authorizing The Acceptance of Proffered Cash Payments

THE ACCEPTANCE OF PROFFERED CASH PAYMENTS
(Emphasis Added)

§ 15.2-2298. Same; additional conditions as a part of rezoning or zoning map amendment in certain high-growth localities. – A. Except for those localities to which § 15.2-2303 is applicable, this section shall apply to (i) any locality which has had population growth of ten percent or more from the next-to-latest to latest decennial census year, based on population reported by the United States Bureau of the Census; (ii) any city adjoining such city or county; (iii) any towns located within such county; and (iv) any county contiguous with at least three such counties, and any town located in that county.

In any such locality, notwithstanding any contrary provisions of § 15.2-2297, a zoning ordinance may include and provide for the voluntary proffering in writing, by the owner, of reasonable conditions, prior to a public hearing before the governing body, in addition to the regulations provided for the zoning district or zone by the ordinance, as a part of a rezoning or amendment to a zoning map, provided that (i) the rezoning itself gives rise to the need for the conditions; (ii) the conditions have a reasonable relation to the rezoning; and (iii) all conditions are in conformity with the comprehensive plan as defined in § 15.2-2223. Once proffered and accepted as part of an amendment to the zoning ordinance, the conditions shall continue in effect until a subsequent amendment changes the zoning on the property covered by the conditions; however, the conditions shall continue if the subsequent amendment is part of a comprehensive implementation of a new or substantially revised zoning ordinance.

No proffer shall be accepted by a locality unless it has adopted a capital improvement program pursuant to § 15.2-2239 or local charter. In the event proffered conditions include the dedication of real property or payment of cash, the property shall not transfer and the payment of cash shall not be made until the facilities for which the property is dedicated or cash is tendered are included in the capital improvement program, provided that nothing herein shall prevent a locality from accepting proffered conditions which are not normally included in a capital improvement program. If proffered conditions include the dedication of real property or the payment of cash, the proffered conditions shall provide for the disposition of the property or cash payment in the event the property or cash payment is not used for the purpose for which proffered.

§ 15.2-2303. Conditional zoning in certain localities. – A. A zoning ordinance may include reasonable regulations and provisions for conditional zoning as defined in § 15.2-2201 and for the adoption, in counties, or towns therein which have planning commissions, wherein the urban county executive form of government is in effect, or in a city adjacent to or completely surrounded by such a county, or in a county contiguous to any such county, or in a city adjacent to or completely surrounded by such a contiguous county, or in any town within such contiguous county, and in the counties east of the Chesapeake Bay as a part of an amendment to the zoning map of reasonable conditions, in addition to the regulations provided for the zoning district by the ordinance, when such conditions shall have been proffered in writing, in advance of the public hearing before the governing body required by § 15.2-2285 by the owner of the property which is the subject of the proposed zoning map amendment. Once proffered and accepted as part of an amendment to the zoning ordinance, such conditions shall continue in effect until a subsequent amendment changes the zoning on the property covered by such conditions. However, such conditions shall continue if the subsequent amendment is part of a comprehensive implementation of a new or substantially revised zoning ordinance.

§ 15.2-2303.1. Development agreements in certain counties. – A. In order to promote the public health, safety and welfare and to encourage economic development consistent with careful planning, any county with a population between 10,300 and 11,000 according to the 1990 United States Census through which an interstate highway passes may include in its zoning ordinance provisions for the governing body to enter into binding development agreements with any persons owning legal or equitable interests in real property in the county if the property to be developed contains at least one thousand acres.

Comments

Cash proffers that merely restate existing ordinance requirements to pay certain fees are not included under cash proffers collected or cash proffers pledged but not collected. [Cash proffer p]ledges do not include cash proffers where the amount to be paid cannot be calculated at the time of rezoning approval (i.e., amounts based on formulas subject to future credits and inflationary adjustments).

1. The total amount of cash proffer revenue collected by Loudoun County in FY2001-2002 includes cash proffers only and do not represent the value of land proffered or the value of in-kind proffers that may have been accepted during the specified reporting period.
2. It is important to note that the majority of proffers pledged during FY2001-2002 are not due on a specified date. During the reporting period, Loudoun County approved rezoning applications that resulted in newly pledged proffers or amendments to previously approved proffers. Some of these contained cash proffers with respect to specific areas such as but not limited to capital facilities, open space, initial fire and rescue contributions, and transportation. [Proffers relative to initial, one-time contributions for fire and rescue services are included in most approved applications. These represent funds that are paid to the County and distributed to fire and rescue companies. The payments are generally due to the County at the time of rezoning permit issuance. The Board of Supervisors no longer accepts proffers relative to annual, ongoing fire and rescue contributions collected and disbursed by (home)owner's associations, and in June 2001 adopted an explicit resolution regarding the cessation of those types of proffers.] The majority of these cash proffers are due to be paid upon issuance of a zoning permit, with no date specified as to when that might occur. Of further note is that the majority of the pledged proffers include escalation factors for increasing the contribution to a value relative to changes in the Consumer Price Index. Clearly, the actual value of these cash proffers due at a time not certain, cannot be accurately forecasted or reported.
3. With respect to cash proffer revenue expended during FY2001-2002, it is important to note that the figures cited on the survey form represent an actual cash outlay of proffered cash contributions. The cited figure will not align with expenditures as referenced in Loudoun County's Comprehensive Annual Financial Report, because fund transfers are reflected as expenditures. For example, anticipated public facilities expenditures are typically transferred to a Capital Improvement Program fund and as such, are reflected as expenses. In order to respond fully to the survey, the cited figures represent a total actual proffer cash outlay and not fund transfers.

[Prince William County's proffer] system is an "event-driven" one that uses benchmarks in the development process for the payment of proffers, and not one which is "time-driven." This is why [Total Amount of Cash Proffers Pledged and Whose Payment Was Conditioned Only on Time] has been left blank.

Comments

[Stafford County] almost never have proffers that are conditioned only on time. Proffers are normally conditioned on the actual development of the rezoned property. Amounts are collected as development progresses. If the property is not developed or not developed completely, the total amount may not be realized.
